Partial revival of business was helped by the Democratic "Buy it now" slogan. Under Republican administrations the familiar cry was "Can't fill your order."

crats," there are a lot of down and out business men who voted | that a tariff for the protection of the Democratic ticket in 1912 and who acknowledge that they deserve what they got.

The Baltimore American very appropriately remarks that if the Democrats have "set business free" they turned it out to graze after they had burnt over the pasture with tariff legislation.

While the American people will support the President in controversies with foreign countries, even though they coubt the wisdom of the methods of the State Department, yet they should not and will not feel obliged to support him in domestic economic matters when they know him to be wrong.

Friday's Ohio State Journal publishing the following:

"Plans of the Republican lead ers to bring about cessation o the session's work tomorrow night were practically abandoned when the budget bill was not brought to a vote in the House last night. The measure, carrying $33,000,000, is the longest appropriation bill ever presented because every item is specifically set forth. To read it fully and distinctly requires five hours."

Here is a frank admission in a newspaper that in the last campaign was openly hostile to the candidacy of Governor Willis, that one of the principal pledges made over and over by Mr. Willis in his campaign utterances has been kept, and kept to the letter.

It was a well known fact that the last legislature, at the dictation of Governor Cox, made appropriations in lump sums, and in nearly every instance the expenditure was dominated "with the consent" or "approval" of the governor. Even in the governor's executive office, appropriations were in such fashion that the governor was permitted to raise salaries of his executive of foreign trade conditions would force at will. This Governor Willis has had changed, so that the appropriation bill specifies the salary to be paid in each case, not only in the governor's office. but in all other departments.

The Democratic 43 per cent tariff for revenue and 57 per cent free-trade measure is the principal cause of knocking the spokes out of the wheels of industry and the creating of the great army of unemployed. Ye the public servants of the Democratic party have the nerve to ask the public to be retained in the public service. The great majority demand a change, and in 1916.—Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Lea-

Everybody Will Feel Better.

Cheer up. The nearer we get to 1916 the better the business outlook will become. The people of this country have made up their minds that they are going Speaking of "deserving Demo- to have a Republican president and a Republican Congress and American industries is going to replace the present tariff for the destruction of American industries. As the time for the ac complishment of these results draws near everybody will begin to feel better. - Cattaraugus (N. Y.) Times.

Shoulder to Shoulder.

By sheer force of superior numbers the Republican hosts will overwhelm their ancient enemies, the free-traders, in the rext great struggle for supremacy in the nation. All strifes and disagree ments among them have been forgotten in the presence of the great opportunity soon to confront them, that of restoring prosperity to the country through the enactment of the only kind of a fiscal policy that can be depended upon to keep American factories, American workingmen and American business active and prosperous, from year to year, namely, a protective policy that insures the American market to Americans.

On this program all Republicans will stand shoulder to shoulder and heart to heart in 1916. Springfield (Mo.) Republican.

Stimulate Home Trade.

President Wilson advanced as one of the main merits of the Democratic tariff that it would bring about sharp competition and thus lead to stimulation of home enterprise. The situation has radically changed; yet the need for stimulation of home trade has become intense. It is rood, but to compensate home producers for the loss of foreign the country.

The field of local consumption must be widened; the field of local manufactures must be widened. This is the direction that the best energies of the administration should take. A review reflect the wisdom of this course. Not being able to pay either in gold or in goods, and the rate of exchange being exceedingly variable and very low, the caution is imposed upon American ship Not only have the appropria- pers to see to it that they do not

The wise business men will seek to promote home trade; will seek to develop greater consumption: will seek to inaugurate new enterprise. There is a tremendous potentiality of production and consumption in the United States that has not been drawn upon, and this means the creation of the factors of wealth and the distribution of the elements of contentment. These conditions taken together make prosperity .-Baltimore American.

Revise the Tariff; Repeal War Tax.

There is no doubt as to the improvement—the great and widespread improvement—of business in the United States during the past four months.

This has been brought about by the labor of our agriculturists. by favorable climatic conditions in 1914 and by the immense yields of food products in that year.

It has been aided greatly thro the advantages of the facilities provided for business men by the Federal reserve banking system.

The people realize now that they are in control of the monetary supplies of the republic to an extent heretofore denied them, and, being now andowed by legislation with such control, they will never relinquish it.

The improvement has been also promoted by the unexampled demand of foreign countries for the products of our lands, for the output of our mines, our mills, our shops, our factories.

These purchases were most welcome, but they were forced by the wants and needs of those foreign countries, not made in order to produce good times here.

There are two means of making still better times in the United States; two ways of promoting the interests of business men and also those of the great majority of our population.

There are two legislative acts that the administration should hasten and which the President should call the Congress together to pass.

The war tax levy should be repealed at once.

The revenues of the government should be increased by an immediate revision of the tariff. Justice to the people of the United States demands that both be done. The interests of the Democratic party, which has always opposed direct taxation and always stood for a tariff for revenue, are now and in these instances peculiarly not to meet the inroads of foreign in line with the interests of the great majority of the people of

> The dislocations of the unexpected European war reduced the revenues and induced the administration to favor an odious war

The situation is clearly defined. The administration should free the country from the tax and the party and itself from the odium of that measure.

This can be done by a Democratic Congress framing a tariff law to produce the revenues the country needs.

Business men will rejoice and pprove these two measures. Democratic leaders and DemoExact Copy of Wrapper.
